

This award goes to someone who has willingly been involved in a number of projects for the benefit of the town.

This is including volunteering here at the centre – helping with some admin as well as fund raising by putting on events.

All of these have been very helpful to, and appreciated by, the Community Centre.

But I think that the main thing that people recognise are the skills this person has and which they use to help raise money for a lot of local groups and charities – giving of their skills, time and, from my own experience working on projects with them, their own money as well

If I tell you that the best known special skills (professional in my view) are in cake making and decorating you will know immediately that this award is for Caroline Munn
